The President The White House Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

The Wemen's Educational Equity Act (WEEA) supports a broad range of activities to remove sex bias and expand educational opportunities for women.

This significant legislation was the result of two bills: H.R. 208, introduced by former Congresswoman Patsy T. Mink on January 3, 1973 and a companion bill S. 2518 introduced by Vice President Walter F. Mondale on October 2, 1973.

Women and men-from a great variety of educational institutions have strongly endorsed this national program. We are convinced the teaching models and materials which have been developed will help us move vigorously toward the goal of greater equity for women.

I am pleased to submit this Second Annual WEEA Report. The U.S. Office of Education is privileged to be a part of this most important program. We are also most appreciative of your firm advocacy of equal opportunity for women, and I wish to express my gratitude for your leadership and support.

Cordially,

Ernest L. Boyer U.S. Commissioner

Honorable Walter F. Mondale President of the Senate Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

The Women's Educational Equity Act (WEEA) supports a broad range of activities at every level of education to eliminate sex bias and expand educational opportunities for girls and women.

This significant legislation was the result of two bills: H.R. 208, introduced by former Congresswoman Patsy T. Mink on January 3, 1973 and a companion bill S. 2518 that you introduced on October 2, 1973.

This national program has been strongly endorsed by women and men from a variety of educational institutions and by numerous women's organizations. We are convinced that the model programs, teaching modules and other material which have been developed will help us move more vigorously toward the goal of greater educational equity for women.

I am pleased to submit the Second Annual WEEA Report. The U.S. Office of Education is privileged to be a part of this important program. We are also most appreciative of your firm and continued advocacy of equal educational opportunity for women.

Cordially,

Erlest L. Boyer U.S. Commissioner of Education

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION. AND WELFARE OFFICE OF EDUCATION WASHINGTON.D.C 20202

September 26, 1977

Honorable Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. Speaker of the House of Representatives Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

On behalf of the U.S. Office of Education, it is a great pleasure to submit the Second Annual Report on the Women's Educational Equity Act Program (WEEAP) prepared as part of the legislated mandate to submit such a report to the President, the Congress, and the National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs.

The enactment of the WEEA legislation was the result of two bills: H.R. 208, introduced by former Congresswoman Patsy I. Mink on January 3, 1973 and a companion bill S. 2518 introduced by Vice President Walter F. Mondale on Octo er 2, 1973.

WEEA authorizes the support of an extremely broad range of activities that target on every area of education that perpetuates sex bias, and thereby opens many avenues to carry out the purpose of providing educational equity for women.

A catalytic effect is anticipated as a result of the employment of a capacity building strategy to extend the impact of each project beyond the local to the national level.

The development of models and materials for national use requires that all projects be sensitive to the cultural values of the various groups in the country, cultural values that are the expression of the ethnic, racial, and regional heritage of these groups.

In submitting the Second Annual Report, the U.S. Office of Education wishes to express the gratitule of the boys and girls and men and women of the Nation for the congressional support for educational equity for women that will have a similar impact for men.

Ernest L. Boyer U.S. Commissioner of Idudation

Ms. Mary Beth Peters Chair National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs 1832 M Street, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Ms. Peters:

It is with great pleasure that I transmit to the National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs the Second Annual Report on the implementation of the Women's Educational Equity Act of 1974.

The report, as developed, should facilitate the mandate of the Council to evaluate the programs and projects assisted under the Women's Educational Equity Act.

The Council's advice and recommendations on the implementation of the Act have been most helpful and will continue to add value to the program.

WOMEN'S EDUCATIONAL EQUITY ACT PROGRAM

Introduction

The Women's Educational Equity Act Program (NEEAP) has completed its first year of program operation and its second year of issuing contracts and grants. This report contains the following information: a brief description of the legislation; comments on program changes made for the second year of operation; information on applications received and funded; a description of the application review and award process; and, summaries of grants and contracts awarded.

Legislation

The Women's Educational Equity Act (WEEA) was passed as part of the Special Projects Act of the Education Amendments of 1974, Public Law 93-380. The enactment of the legislation was the result of two bills: H.R. 208, introduced by former Congresswoman Patsy T. Mink on January 3, 1973 and a companion bill S. 2518 introduced by Vice President Walter F. Mondale on October 2, 1973. The House of Representatives and the Senate conducted public hearings in the summer and fall of 1973.

The WEEA authorizes the support of an extremely broad range of activities that target on every area of education that perpetuates sex bias, and thereby opens many avenues to carry out the purpose of providing educational equity for women. The activities include: the development, evaluation, and dissemination of curricula, textbooks, and other educational materials; pre-service and in-service training for educational personnel, including guidance and counseling personnel; research, development, and other educational activities designed to advance educational equity; guidance and counseling activities, including the development of tests which are nondiscriminatory on the basis of sex; educational activities to increase opportunities for adult women, inivding continuing educational activities and programs for underemployed and unemployed women; and the expansion and improvement of educational programs and activities for women in vocational education, career education, physical education, and educational administration. Finally the WEEA authorizes the Commissioner to award small grants, not to exceed $15,000, for innovative approaches to the achievement of educational equity for women. Public agencies, private nonprofit organizations, and individuals are eligible to apply for contracts and grants to carry out these authorized activities.

The National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs was created by this legislation. Seventeen members are appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. They are broadly representative of the general public and are conversant with issues involving the role and status of women in American society. Three additional members are specified in the law: the Chairman of the Civil Rights Commission; the Director of the Women's Action Program, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW); and the Director of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor.

Second Year of Operation

In the first year of activity the WEEAP identified priority areas for grant applications. (See the WEEA First Annual Report, September 1976.) Early in the second year of the program development additional priority areas were proposed by the Office of Education for public comment by means of an "Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking." Public comments to this advance notice were extremely diverse and did not provide a consensus on the proposed priority areas. As a result, the Office of Education decided to eliminate priority areas and to direct interested parties to the activities authorized in the legislation. Basic program policy remains unchanged. All projects supported under the WEEAP must contribute to the above type of the educational community to respond to the vast array of needs in the area of women's educational equity. This strategy was initially referred to as capacity building but due to the ambiguity of that term this approach is now referred to as development of products and model programs.

The program also emphasizes the importance of supporting diverse approaches to the achievement of educational equity for girls and women among various racial, ethnic, regional, age, socioeconomic, and residential groups. Programs and materials to provide educational equity will not be the same for all girls and women throughout the country, and much attention must be given in all projects to a clear definition of applicable target populations. The achievement of equity does not imply the development of a new stereotype for women, nor for men. Rather, the program emphasizes the availability of choices or options, so that educational programs can become truly equitable.

Application Review and Grant Award Processes

All preapplications and applications are reviewed according to the "biscretionary Grant Program Review and Administrative Procedures," of the HEW Grant Administration Manual.

Each application is reviewed by a panel of three readers, one government and two nongovernment. Preapplications are reviewed by two readers, one government and one nongovernment. Readers are selected on the basis of pre-established criteria that reflect such concerns as: knowledge and experience in the area of women's educational equity and in the substantive areas identified in the Women's Educational Equity Act, as well as geographic diversity, representation of all levels of education, and the composition of the general population in terms of sex, race and ethnicity.

The panels rate each preapplication and application on the criteria that are contained in the WEEAP regulations (CFR 45 160°, June 28, 1977). When the review has been completed the Women's Program Staff rank orders all applications and, based on the availability of funds, develops a first list of potential awards. At this point in the process, factors other than the reviewers' ratings enter into the award decisions.

These decisions are based on the following additional considerations that are contained in the regulation (§160f 9): the projects collectively must be representative of all levels of education and must reflect the diversity of needs and concerns in educational equity for women, a variety of strategies for addressing the need, a variety of delivery systems, and demographic diversity. A last factor that contributes to the final list of applications recommended for awards is the statutor, provision that approved programs and projects reflect an appropriate geographic distribution throughout the Nation (§160f.10 (a)(4)).

The following sections of this report provide information regarding characteristics of applications, funded projects, and projected programs and products developed in fiscal year 1976.

CHARACTERISTICS: PREAPPLICATIONS/APPLICATIONS/AWARDS

Information on the characteristics of preapplications, applications and funded grants is contained in the following sections of the report. Characteristics described are regional distribution, type of applicant, type of activity, level of education, special population—groups, academic areas, and other concerns.

Preapplications

The Women's Educational Equity Act Program received 504 preapplications requesting a total of approximately $56 million. Preapplications were received from all 10 KEW regions. Almost 40 percent of the preapplications were submitted by institutions of higher education, both public and private; approximately 30 percent were submitted by private non-profit organizations. Local education agencies, State education agencies, community colleges, and individuals submitted the remaining 30 percent. Preapplications addressed the activities mandated by the legislation. The activities most often proposed were: educational administration, development of educational materials, activities for women in vocational education, career education, and physical education. The proposed projects spanned every level of education.

Following the review of preapplications, 124 preapplicants from all 10 HEW regions were invited to submit final applications. Invitees included 69 public agencies, 53 private nonprofit organizations, and 2 individuals.

General Grants

Many applicants did not participate in the preapplication process and submitted only a final application. The number of applications for general grants totalled 334, more than twice the number of invited preapplications. At a total of $30 million in fund requests, applications represented all 10 HEW regions, all levels of education, types of applicant and types of activity. The Women's Educational Equity Act Program funded a total of 36 new general grants in the 1977 fiscal year at the amount of $2,884,814.

Most activities mandated were addressed in applications, of which approximately 70 percent contained a component for development of educational materials. Fifty percent of the proposals focused on women in vocational education or career education. Chart III displays the number of project applications and awards emphasizing each activity as specified by the legislation. Many applications covered more than one activity, so that total entries vary.

Among the applications received were proposals to address the needs of special population groups. These groups are categorized by race/ethnic origin, age, socioeconomic status or residence. Chart V describes the data concerning these groups.

Applications included proposals for projects in specific academic disciplines. Vocational or career education was identified in 108 projects. Ten to 15 projects included the following: business/finance, law, life planning skills, mathematics, physical education and technological fields. Other academic areas emphasized were art, engineering, history, language arts, medicine, science and social sciences.

Small Grants

The Women's Educational Equity Act Program received a total of 194 applications for small grants. Requests for funding totalled nearly $2.7 million. Most small grant applications focused on two of the major activities mandated by the legislation, the development of materials and pre-service and in-service training. Approximately 37 percent of the small grant applications were received from institutions of higher education, both public and private. Individuals submitted 20 percent of the applications. Chart VI presents a summary of the small grant applications received and awarded by type of applicant.

An examination of Chart VIII shows that the majority of grant activities were focused on development, training, and guidance and counseling. Grants were quite evenly distributed by level of education with slightly more emphasis on secondary, postsecondary, and adult education. Roughly one-fourth of the grants focused on special populations.

* Type of activity by number of awards reflects the number of grants engaged in multiple types of activities.

Among the funded small grants, concerns which received special emphasis were: low-income individuals, Title IX, parents, community and school boards. Small grants were funded in the academic areas of: mathematics/science, social sciences, vocational and career education, and physical education.

Summaries of all funded projects are provided to inform the public of the activities undertaken to promote women's educational equity. The summaries are arranged in alphabetical order by State in each of the following categories: general grants, continuations, and small grants. The summaries include the project identification, amount awarded, duration of the project, project director, and a description of goals, activities, and anticipated products.

Following the Project Summaries is a matrix of print and nonprint products being developed in each of the 67 projects funded in fiscal year 1976. The members of the Women's Program Staff are also identified.

EARLY CHILDHOOD TEACHER TRAINERS TRAINING MODEL/MANUAL

Women's Action Alliance, Inc. (WAA) Nonsexist Child Development Project

370 Lexington Avenue

New York, New York 10017

$86,899 Amount : Duration: One Year

Director: Ms. Barbara Sprung

: (212) 532-8330 Phone

A training model for early childhood teacher trainers will be developed for training the trainers of preschool personnel in techniques to foster nonsexist early childhood education. By training trainers who in turn will train the many teachers who work directly with children and parents, the scope and outreach will be very broad. This model will be developed by working with an early childhood training network which encompasses both urban and rural areas within one HEW region. After completion of the program, those trainers who participated in the project will be able to train their colleagues in other regions. A training manual will be produced which can be used in conjunction with two training films produced by WAA under a Women's Educational Equity grant in 1976-77. These products will make it possible for trainers to implement a complete nonsexist early childhood education training program.

CAREER EDUCATION INTERDISCIPLINARY USE OF MATH IN CAREER CHOICES

University of Oklahoma S.W. Center for Human Relations Studies

555 Constitution Avenue Norman, Oklahoma 73037

$60,630 Amount :

Two Years/First Year Curation: Ms. Carole H. Hardeman Director:

(405) 325-1711 Phone

To design, develop, and validate a middle school curricular model that will enhance young women's and men's understanding of interdisciplinary uses of mathematics in career choices. Materials will be designed with acute awareness of the importance of the learner's self-concept and self-image. Students will learn the relationship of mathematics and fine arts, physical and biological sciences, language arts, social sciences and the practical arts. Each interdisciplinary area will include an extensive overview of related careers and successful women role models and will be developed into a comprehensive instructional curricular model. This approach is designed to curtail the "feminine math anxiety" syndrome that young women develop in the trans-adolescent stage. The above six instructional modules will include audiotapes, slides, transparencies and/or film strips, and an accompanying booklet for teacher or student for individual study, student activities and an inquiry-approach oral presentation.

MEDICAL ACADEMIA MODEL LEADERSHIP TRAINING

American Medical Women's Association

2302 East Speedway

Suite 206-A

Tucson, Arizona 85719

Amount : $110,617

Duration: Two Years/Second Year

Director: Dr. Marlys Witte

Phone : (602) 795-2677

To establish a model system to develop women leaders in medical academia. Through concurrent p ograms of research and action, the inequities for female policy and decision makers in academic medicine will be documented. Curriculum development at the University of Arizona Medical School in Tucson will serve as the core of the model designed to provide potential leaders with specialized training that will ultimately influence institutional policy and create role models for aspiring female administrators.

The research component will compile data showing the numbers and percentages of women in medical academia. Through survey techniques, an attempt will be made to determine attitudes toward women M.D. academicians. An in-depth follow-up of the participants who attended the first year's leadership workshop will be conducted to determine the achievements of workshop objectives. A second leadership workshop will be developed to provide additional training for capacity building activities at other medical institutions.

To develop procedures for identifying the kinds of barriers that may be predicted to interfere with the fulfillment of the potential of talented sophomore high school students at the six school sites designated during the first project year. These locations reflect a variety of settings; public coeducation, independent and parochial schools, and diverse racial and family backgrounds. Strategies for removing those barriers have been designed and a handbook will be developed for guidance personnel who will be involved in all facets of the program from research to validation. A diagnostic battery has been constructed to provide an individualized career preparation program to meet the specific needs of adolescent students as they attempt to overcome those identified barriers. Opportunities will be provided for dialogue between students, community leaders, and university personnel who might serve as role models.

STATE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM TEACHING CERTIFICATION

University of Oregon Center for Educational Policy and

Management 1472 Kincaid Street Eugene Oregon 97401 Amount: $198,906

Duration: Two Years/Second Year Director: Dr. Patricia Schmuck

Phone : (503) 686-5074

To implement a model for achieving sex equity in Oregon's public school management that can be replicated in other State systems of education. Structured to achieve six basic goals, the model will attempt to change attitudes and content of preparation leading to changes in individuals, administrative and policy making groups and institutions within the State.

New courses will be established and others restructured at two major State universities to include content on sex role socialization and stereotyping. Through collaboration with the State Department of Education, it is expected that these courses will become a requirement for teaching certification. A network of local school districts working in cooperation with the proposed State Advisory Board on Sex Equity in Education will assume responsibility for providing technical assistance for implementation of staffing policies consistent with concepts of equity and will provide for placement opportunities after the initial year. These activities will be further supported by research activities which will complete the model.

*TO BE DETERMINED

CONTRACTS

Six major WEEA contracts will be in operation during fiscal year 1977, of which two will be continued from last year. The first two listed below were developed for internal programmatic operations and the latter were developed as a major contribution to women's educational equity. The official contract titles are:

- * Project Coordination for the WEEA Program
- * Process Evaluation for the WEEA Program--Continuation
- * National and Regional Workshops and Development of Technical Assistance Materials for Title IX, Public Law 92-318--Continuation
- * Technical Assistance to Individuals and Organizations in Developing Projects Designed to Improve Educational Equity for Girls and Women
- * WEEA Communications Network
- * Dissemination: Development and Operation of a Program/
  Product Distribution Center

Like the WEEA grants, eligible offerors for contracts are public agencies, private nonprofit organizations, and individuals.

PROJECT COORDINATION FOR THE WEEA PROGRAMS

Women's Equity Action League Educational and Legal Defense Fund 733-15th Street, N.W., Suite 200 Washington, District of Columbia 20005 Amount: $164,067 Juration: One Year

Director: Ms. Elaine Binder Phone : (202) 638-1961

The objective of this one-year contract is to facilitate communication among grant projects, to provide coordination of grant projects, and to facilitate their interactions and communication. Activities as needed will include training, conferences, print and nonprint materials, as well as working with the education system, government, and special target groups to achieve educational equity for women.

Focus may be on the following:

- * Level of education, i.e., preschool, elementary, secondary, postsecondary, adult;
- * Subject area, i.e., counseling and guidance, career and vocational education, research, curriculum, sex role stereotyping, teacher education:
- * Functional topics, i.e., project evaluation, project management, measurement, antidiscrimination legislation, use of media;
- * Specialized target population, i.e., minority groups, rural, adults, offenders, handicapped, maturing;
- * Type of grant, i.e., general, small.

PROCESS EVALUATION AND PRE-POST MEASUREMENT INSTRUMENT DEVELOPMENT

American Institutes for Research

Continuation

Duration :

42 Months

East Coast:

1055 Thomas Jefferson Street, N.W.

Washington, District of Columbia 20007

Co-director:

Dr. Dorothy Edwards

Phone

(202) 342-5043

West Coast:

Post Office Box 1113

Palo Alto, California 94302

Co-director:

Dr. Carmen J. Finley

Phone : (415) 493-3550

This contract has two major objectives: 1) to develop case studies on selected projects funded under WEEAP, and 2) to assess project measurement needs in order to locate existing instruments for project use or to develop a minimum number of new instruments to meet project needs.

Because the WEEAP emphasis is on capacity building, its funded projects will be models and demonstrations or will result in tangible products that will respond to problems on a nationwide basis. The resulting outputs of most WEEAP projects will be transportable and have wide application.

Case studies on selected WEEAP projects will be developed in order to assess the effectiveness of a capacity building program; to identify critical steps, processes, and conditions in the course of project/product development; to assess the process and extent of dissemination and utilization of the products that were developed by the projects at the conclusion of the grant period. Information will be provided to the projects included. Reports will be prepared and recommendations made for the J.S. Office of Education and for the public that can be used in developing similar capacity building programs in the area of educational equity, and can serve as demonstrations of effective approaches.

Projects will be assisted in developing valid and reliable products and programs through the identification of the measurement needs of multi-year projects funded under the general program, literature search for instruments that will serve those needs, and in the absence of existing instruments, the development and validation of needed instruments. One set of evaluation materials has been developed.

NATIONAL AND REGIONAL DISSEMINATION WORKSHOPS AND DEVELOPMENT OF TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE MATERIALS FOR TITLE IX, PUBLIC LAW 92-318

Council of Chief State School Officers

Duration

1201 16th Street, N.W. Wa. rington, District of Columbia 20036

uration : 18 Months

Continuation

Director : Dr. Shirley McCune

Phone : (202) 833-5426

Through the design of materials and the conducting of workshops, the contract will assist educational institutions and agencies by addressing problems in eliminating discrimination on the basis of sex which are most common to them. The contract deliverable will be a training package to disseminate technical assistance materials and to train key personnel to utilize these technical assistance materials in developing policies and programs to comply with Title IX. The training package will be utilized under the contract to conduct the national and regional workshops and will be usable after the workshops by other institutions and agencies at local, State, regional and national levels.

The first of the two national conferences for educational leaders was held prior to the regional conferences to inform the participants of the training strategy and the technical assistance materials available to assist their institutions and agencies in promoting educational equity. At least 20 regional workshops are being conducted, using the contractor's training package designed to serve people from all levels of education who are responsible for developing and implementing policies and programs in their institution or agency.

The second national conference will be held for the same group of leaders who attended the first national conference, where the results of the regional workshops and training materials will be reported. Specific plans and procedures will be developed for further use of the training package, and additional needs of institutions and agencies will be identified in order to achieve compliance with Title IX. Special conference packages will be developed, and briefing papers will be sent in advance to the participants.

The training package, replicable at reasonable cost, will focus on developing an understanding of sex discrimination in education, the requirements of Title IX, and the development of policies, programs, and management systems to insure educational equity. A trainer's manual is also being developed for the training package.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE IN DEVELOPING PROJECTS
DESIGNED TO IMPROVE EDUCATIONAL EQUITY
FOR GIRLS AND WOMEN

This contract was not issued at the time this report went to press.

The objectives of this one-year contract are:

- * To develop a workshop training package and guidance materials to assist individuals and organizations in developing a project designed for enhancing women's educational equity and in understanding the various approaches to and sources of securing financial support;
- * To develop other cost effective and low cost avenues to provide assistance to individuals and groups.
- * To conduct a series of tuition-free workshops for at least 1,000 participants in various areas of the country.

Workshops will be conducted in those areas of the country where women have expressed a direct interest in the Women's Educational Equity Act Program. The workshops will be conducted in cities and facilities which will be easily accessible to participants from large cities as well as nonmetropolitan locations. Participants must have experience in women's educational equity; have not previously developed an application and received an award; such assistance is not available to them from other sources; and adequately represent minority and rural women.

The training materials, aids, and guidance materials will be made available to the general public at low cost from the Government Printing Office.

WOMEN'S EDUCATIONAL EQUITY COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK (WEECN)

This contract was not issued at the time this report went to press.

The communications network will serve individuals, organizations and institutions throughout the Nation that are conducting projects, activities, or research related to educational equity for women, as well as the projects under the Women's Educational Equity Act. The WEECN will identify with and promote the efforts of educational institutions, agencies, women's groups, and other organizations in order to foster women's educational equity.

Subject matter will focus on educational equity for women. Formats will vary from curriculum and teacher guides, research and technical reports, evaluation studies and critical reviews, tests, journals, descriptions of model programs and innovative practices, films and videotapes, and other print and nonprint materials.

A Network Center will be established at one location where all inquiries about research, projects, and material may be directed. The Center will provide two-way communication for programmatic information and will perform technical activities as well, for document acquisition, screening, indexing, abstracting, vocabulary control, and development of publications. A close working relationship has been established with ERIC (Educational Resources Information Center).

The Center will emphasize service to users responses will be provided to inquiries received by telephone and by mail, workshops will be conducted, media announcements will be issued, literature searches will be performed, and referrals to other information centers and organizations concerned with women's educational equity will be supplied. The Center staff will participate in meetings and conferences throughout the country and will provide exhibits.

A variety of products for users will be developed by WEECN including fact sheets, topical bibliographies, information analysis studies in the form of syntheses and monographs, an announcement journal for print and nonprint materials, and general information brochures describing WEECN and its services.

DISSEMINATION: DEVELOPMENT AND OPERATION OF A PROGRAM/PRODUCT DISTRIBUTION CENTER

Amount : $481,853 Education Development Center, Inc. (EDC)

Duration: One Year 55 Chapel Street

Director: Ms. Norma F. Jackman Newton, Massachusetts 02160

Phone : (617) 969-7100

The Women's Educational Equity Act mandates the dissemination of its broad range of activities furthering educational equity for women. WEEAP's grants are intended to help increase the options of women of all backgrounds at every level of education. The training programs and products, many of which are in their final stages of development, include--films and other audiovisual media, teaching manuals and training modules, and research and program models. EDC will coordinate the collection, review, production and dissemination of the completed products and reports, and will provide assistance to other groups wishing to adopt these for their own use.

Collaborating with EDC is the Center for Research on Women in Higher Education and the Professions, a nonprofit policy oriented research institution of Wellesley College. The Wellesley Center will convene panels of educators, community representatives, and researchers to review the materials.
